

Speaker Biography

Dr Liz Reed

Research Lead, Princess Alice Hospice

Liz has worked as the Research Lead at Princess Alice Hospice since 2013. She is responsible for the development and implementation of the organisational research strategy, the management and dissemination of research activity at the hospice and research collaborations.

Before going into research, Liz was a palliative care Clinical Nurse Specialist in a variety of settings (Hospital, palliative care in-patient unit and community). She was awarded her PhD in 2012 which was a longitudinal mixed method study researching the experience of women living with metastatic breast cancer. Liz has extensive experience in qualitative research methods; narrative interviewing, semi-structured interviewing, focus group facilitation as well as some experience in quantitative research methods.